This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE HOUSE OF APPLIED KNOWLEDGE

Established, 1905, by Caspar W. Hodgson

YONKERS-ON-HUDSON, NEW YORK
2126 PRAIRIE AVENUE, CHICAGO

An essential part of the process of acquiring or of applying knowledge is the use of the tools of knowledge. Correct spelling is one such tool, quick and accurate use of the dictionary is another; and it is because the Word Finder trains children in the use of these two important tools that it claims a place among "books that apply the world's knowledge to the world's needs"

AUTHORS' NOTE

In putting together this little book the authors have tried to meet a long-felt, specific need of the elementary school child. The Word Finder aims to accomplish just one thing: to enable the pupil to look up quickly the spelling of words to be used in written work. It has no other function. But it tries to do that one thing well by omitting all material not pertinent to that special use. The authors hope that the book will make easier the development of a spelling conscience and the dictionary habit. It is not intended to supplant the dictionary or to take the place of the spelling lesson, but rather to be one among many means whereby spelling may be taught and the written vocabulary enlarged.

There is nothing new in this little volume, except the scheme of its construction. The words are the common words of our daily written vocabularies. The spellings accord with long-accepted standards. The word order differs from that of ordinary dictionaries only in its strict adherence to the alphabet for derived words and inflected forms as well as for basic words; and that plan itself is not new. The novelty consists rather in what has been left out than in what has been put in. There are no definitions, pronunciations, or derivations, because a child on the point of using a word in writing assuredly knows the meaning already, is not in search of the pronunciation, and cannot stop to bother with the derivation of that word. He wants to find the spelling and quite possibly the syllabication, and then he wants to go on with his composition.

The great difficulty faced by the authors in constructing the book was the problem of what words to include and what words to exclude, what words to put in the left-hand column because of their commonness, and what words to put in boldface type because of the frequency of their misspelling. Fortunately they were able to fortify themselves in their judgment, not only by certain investigations of their own, but by comparison with numerous scientific researches into child and adult vocabularies now available. They gratefully acknowledge their debt to the investigators whose work has helped them to give their list a sound basis, and to the score or more of public school spelling lists that also were inspected.

The vocabulary of the Word Finder, consisting of about nine thousand words, includes practically every word found in any of the available word lists of scientific investigators, with the addition of many words found in public school lists of a less scientific character, and still a few more words that for one reason or another appeared desirable. Among these are two or three hundred of the most frequently used proper names — geographical, historical, etc. Included also are a number of common contractions, phrases, and inflected forms not found in most school dictionaries.

The authors hope that where the book is helpful, it will be used, and that where it is faulty, it will be criticized, so that it may be improved in later editions.

TO THE PUPIL[1]

THIS book has been put together especially for you, because your teachers wish you to get the habit of looking up all words that you are not sure you can spell. If you really get the habit of doing this, you will have accomplished something just as important as getting high marks in your spelling lessons; for the habit will cling to you long after the lessons have been forgotten, and will some day save you from misspelling a word at a time when a mistake would shame you. This Word Finder is to help you to get the "dictionary habit," but it is not a dictionary. It contains only the commonest words, and helps you only in spelling. In this respect it is a reliable authority, since the spellings used are those of Webster's New International Dictionary. However, when you need to know the meaning of a word, or the pronunciation of a word, consult a real dictionary. Then you will find that your practice with the Word Finder has made you better able to use a dictionary.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

To find a word, first make up your mind as to the first letter in the word, and turn to that letter. Then think of the second letter of the word, if you can, and turn over the pages until you find the first two letters included between [1] It is hoped that teachers using this book will spend a little time in helping the pupils to grasp the principles underlying it. These directions for use are simple, but even simple things have to be drilled upon at times.

the two key words at the top of the page. These key words are the first and last words on the page.

Then try to think of the third letter of the word and hunt down the left-hand column, which contains all the really common words, using the words that stand out in dark black type as key words, much as you use those on the top of the page. Often the word you are looking for will be in this very type, because these are the difficult common words. If the word is not in black, look for it in the lighter type. If it is not to be found, mark the place where you think it ought to be according to alphabetical order, and run your eye across to the right-hand column, which contains the less common words. By looking an inch or two up or down this column, you are pretty sure to find the word.

Sometimes, after you have done all these things, you will still fail to find the word. If it is a very unusual word or an uncommon proper name, perhaps it is not in the Word Finder at all. In this case you will have to look it up elsewhere. But this will not often happen. Generally the trouble is that you have guessed wrong about the first few letters. Here are a few of the mistakes you might make:

You might think that a word began with an s when it really began with a c or even an sc; or the mistake might be just the other way round. You might in the same way mix c and k, or g and j, or ch and sh, or ph and f. Any of these mistakes and others like them might occur in the middle of a word too.

Another kind of mistake is made with the vowel sounds. The long a sound can be spelled a or ay or ey or ai, etc. The long e sound can be spelled ee or ie or ea or e, or several other ways. It is the same with most of the other vowel sounds. So, when you are trying to think of the vowels in a word, remember that in English there are many ways of spelling the same sound.

Another kind of mistake comes from the confusing of words of similar sound but slightly different spelling and very different meaning, such as great and grate. You can avoid becoming confused about such words, by glancing to the right at the illustrating phrase that accompanies each of such words. Example: grate (The fire in the grate).

Sometimes a word like jumping or loved or brighter or sweetest does not appear in the Word Finder. This is because such words follow the very simple rule of adding ing, d or ed, s or es, r or er, st or est to the original word. Exceptions to this rule are almost all listed. For instance, you will find reach but not reaches, because this word follows a fixed rule of merely adding es; but you will find both cry and cries, because the y is changed to i before adding the es, and this is not so easy to remember. In the same way, while you do not find jumping you do find running, because the n is doubled before adding the ing; and you do find love and loving, because the e is dropped before adding the ing. You will find the rules for all these changes in your grammar, or your teacher will be glad to tell you about them. Remember that the Word Finder does not include the regular variations, but does include anything really irregular or hard to remember.

After the first spelling of each word, you will find the word divided into syllables by hyphens. Do not use these hyphens except where you divide a word at the end of a line. If a hyphen occurs in the column where the word is written as a whole, that means that the word is always written with the hyphen.

NEW-WORLD SPELLERS

REALLY MODERN TEXTBOOKS

By JULIA H. WOHLFARTH and LILLIAN E. ROGERS

Formerly Principal Horace Mann Elementary School — Principal Friends West Philadelphia School

The books actually teach children how to spell, because

1. The vocabulary is based upon all the recent scientific investigations in spelling.
2. The vocabulary is enlarged in special word-building lessons.
3. The vocabulary is so distributed that most of the common words appear before the seventh grade.
4. The method is based on laws of interest, attention, and self-activity.
5. Many helps, including a manual, are provided for the teacher.
6. Abundant helps in great variety anticipate for pupils every stumbling block in learning to spell.
7. Homonyms are used in phrases or sentences so as to show their meaning. The use of new words is also exemplified.
8. Dictation work and much drill in word-building are provided.
9. The most important rules for spelling are developed inductively.
10. Progressive dictionary lessons are so devised that they really function.
11. The review system is very thorough, especially on the spelling "demons."
12. The books are made visually attractive by many clever drawings of child life. The volume for grades one to three is illustrated in colors.

FIRST BOOK. Grades 1, 2, 3.
SECOND BOOK. Grades 4, 5, 6.
THIRD BOOK. Grades 7, 8, 9.
Teacher's Manual.

Send for an interesting booklet telling how these spellers were made, giving the distribution of lessons and the vocabulary and sample pages.

SCHOOL EFFICIENCY MONOGRAPHS

The Teaching of Spelling

By WILLARD F. TIDYMAN, M.A., PD.D.

Head of the Department of Education and Director of the Training School, State Normal School for Women, Farmville, Virginia

THIS book brings together from all available sources those facts that are relevant to the teaching of spelling. It offers further a brief and comprehensive study of the many recent investigations of that subject, and supplements this material by an analysis of spelling books now in general use.

The author's experience as an elementary school supervisor has enabled him to make the book a practical working manual, with the topics presented in their relation to the problems that the teacher meets in the classroom daily. He first considers the psychological basis of spelling instruction, then explains the practical application of underlying principles. Among other topics helpfully discussed are: The Presentation of Words; Independent Study and Review; Prevention and Treatment of Errors; Testing.

Considerable attention is given to the measurement of spelling efficiency and related topics. Teachers who do not have access to the extensive literature of this subject will welcome the author's clear and discriminating analysis of the work that has been done by many investigators.

The book is completed by an appendix that contains: (1) Practical spelling plans used by successful teachers; (2) a minimum list of words based on the contents of the six more popular spelling books; (3) an extensive bibliography of books and articles that deal with the teaching of spelling.

Tidyman's Teaching of Spelling is a thoroughly useful and practical book, helpful to every teacher of the subject.
